

ABSTRACT

A fastener used to secure a surface layer to a base and a two-stage fastener driver used to drive the fastener into the base. The fastener comprising a non-magnetic fastener body retaining a ferro-magnetic nail. The fastener driver for driving the fastener into the base. The fastener driver having a housing for magnetically retaining the fastener.